

Presented by Ogletree Deakins'

PHOENIX OFFICE

You're invited to an informative and educational briefing to address the latest immigration law topics impacting employers.

STRATEGIZING YOUR I-9 AND IMMIGRATION PROGRAM MANAGEMENT IN A CHANGING BUSINESS WORLD

Business conditions, including labor market shortages, economic downturn, and the reality of remote work, have caused employers to reimagine their employment models. Some employers have essentially been forced into multi-jurisdictional situations while other employers are dealing with reductions in force and visits from immigration investigators. In this briefing, the speakers will discuss how to adjust work visa programs to respond to labor market changes and highlight recent federal enforcement activity in the area of immigration and employment eligibility verification (i.e., Form I-9).
