DESCRIPTION

This webinar will cover the current legislative and other efforts to bring legalized medical marijuana to Alabama, Kentucky, and Mississippi. We will provide a general overview of the various legal challenges that employers may face with the likely passage of medical marijuana laws in these states, including a discussion of their impact on drug-testing policies, statutory and regulatory compliance, safety-sensitive positions, government contractors, CBD oil laws, and disability discrimination issues. The webinar will also address how employers can begin to prepare themselves, and will provide a glimpse into the future for other southeastern states that may follow the lead of their neighbors and other states around the country.
