DESCRIPTION

Each year it becomes more and more important—and challenging—for employers to keep up with the myriad issues and potential legal pitfalls related to the use of technology in the workplace. Join our speakers as they discuss the top employment law compliance issues relating to electronic monitoring, biometrics, artificial intelligence in recruiting and talent acquisition, and job automation. This is an important webinar for employers that are currently using these technologies as well as employers that are considering implementing these tools to manage the employee life cycle.
