DESCRIPTION

The California Consumer Privacy Act (CCPA) is scheduled to go into effect on January 1, 2020, and enforcement actions will begin on July 1, 2020. The CCPA has broad application and includes a private right of action as well as the possibility of a class action. Attorneys from Ogletree Deakins' Data Privacy Practice Group are presenting a series of webinars to prepare employers doing business in California for this complex law. Join these sessions for insights and practical tips applicable to data privacy programs in California, as well as multistate and global programs. The first webinar will address the following topics:

- The history of the CCPA and why it was enacted
- Which employers need to comply
- The definition of "consumer"
- What qualifies as "personal information"
- Steps to take before January 1
