DESCRIPTION

It is well-known that California's criteria for classifying workers present unique challenges. This webinar will provide an overview of California laws governing the classification of exempt employees and independent contractors. The speakers will cover the salary and duties tests for administrative, executive, and professional exemptions, as well as particular stipulations for computer professionals, and inside and outside salespeople. In addition, the webinar will delve into California's rigid ABC test governing independent contractor classifications and various applicable exceptions. Join this webinar to review these intricacies and gain key takeaways to help you effectively classify your workers.
