The Canadian Employment Law webinar series is designed for attorneys and HR professionals who need an introduction or refresher on employment and labour law in Canada. The series underscores some of the differences between Canada and the United States, and equips employers with the know-how to spot common legal risks in Canadian workplaces. In this installment of the series, the speakers will cover human rights and discrimination, and will provide an overview of human rights issues to be considered and addressed throughout the employment relationship, from onboarding through to terminations.
