DESCRIPTION

Employers around the world are facing issues related to the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic, and, though many employment practices and policies can be applied globally, the outbreak in Asia and Europe has already led to unique situations involving remote work, travel restrictions, and even lockdowns. This webinar will focus on best practices relevant to workplaces in Europe, the Asia-Pacific region, and the Americas. Topics will include employee education and communication, policies related to business and personal travel, remote work, wage and hour issues, and privacy concerns. The speakers will also address specific measures taken by various governments and public authorities.
