

Preparing for the European Union's New Pay Transparency Directive

The European Union (EU) Pay Transparency Directive will impact every employer with a headcount in the EU. The deadline for implementing this directive across EU member states is June 7, 2026, which is less than two months away. In this webinar, the speakers will discuss the directive's key provisions, including pay transparency, the categorization of workers (such as those performing work of equal value), and the requirements for reporting the gender pay gap. They will also cover the directive's status in various member states and share tips on the actions and preparations you may want to consider now.
