DESCRIPTION

New Year's Day 2023 has come and gone, but new California legislation is here to stay. Charles and Leslie will discuss legislation and regulations currently challenging California employers, including state agency updates on pay data reporting and pay transparency. Karen Tynan, chair of Ogletree's West Coast Workplace Safety and Health Practice, will discuss the new COVID-19/infectious disease standards and Leslie and Charles will explain how the approaching end of the COVID-19 state of emergency impacts paid COVID-19 leave. This webinar also will address legislation limiting employee monitoring, new EEOC hearing disability guidelines, new DOL teleworking standards, California's increasing enforcement of wage claim violations, and accommodation and retaliation litigation.
