DESCRIPTION

Stay up to date on the latest California employment law developments in our recurring webinar series with Leslie and Charles. In our May 2022 edition, they will discuss the latest revisions to Cal/OSHA's COVID-19 Prevention Emergency Temporary Standards and new California decisions about whether COVID-19 is a covered disability under state law. They will also cover the EEOC's recent guidance on the use of artificial intelligence (AI) and algorithmic decision-making processes to make employment decisions, as well as California's own proposed regulations on AI. Guest speaker Sean Nalty will provide strategies for complying with new California Consumer Privacy Act requirements. Finally, they will answer some questions from last month's webinar and introduce a new segment on California leaves of absence.
