DESCRIPTION

In part three of our Multistate Compliance webinar series, the speakers will discuss the unprecedented challenges and opportunities employers face in monitoring employees and ensuring workplace productivity and security. The rapidly evolving digital landscape is especially complex for employers with operations across the United States. The growth of employee monitoring technology, large numbers of remote workers, widespread collection of biometric data, and the infusion of artificial intelligence (AI) in the workplace have led to a myriad of privacy concerns and regulatory shifts. This webinar will delve deep into these crucial areas while providing key insights and best practices.
