DESCRIPTION

The EB-2 National Interest Waiver (NIW) visa petition process has become more accessible based on the U.S. government's stated priorities to attract and retain individuals with advanced degrees in science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM). The good news is that the NIW is reduction in force (RIF)-proof and does not require a labor market test. Join this webinar to learn more about the unique challenges and opportunities involved in this alternative to the traditional PERM process.
