DESCRIPTION
On April 29, 2024, the Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs (OFCCP) released guidance on artificial intelligence (AI) and automated technologies. In this webinar, the speakers will delve into OFCCP's first substantial guidance addressing compliance considerations for federal contractors and provide comprehensive insights into the agency's FAQs, promising practices, and practical examples related to the use of these technologies. This webinar also will explore how the agency's guidelines impact federal contractors' strategies in navigating the intersection of innovation and compliance.
