As the U.S. population is increasingly being vaccinated, community (or herd) immunity may be reached in the next several months. In this webinar, the speakers will address how increased vaccination rates might affect the prospect of an emergency temporary standard from OSHA, as well as OSHA's recent compliance guidance on whether adverse reactions to COVID-19 vaccines are recordable on employers' OSHA 300 Logs. The speakers will also discuss what community immunity could mean for employers that are trying to bring their employees back to work.
