DESCRIPTION

Recently, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) updated its guidance on various COVID-19 issues, including masking and contact tracing. Despite the changing guidance and withdrawal of its vaccination and testing emergency temporary standard, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) continues to issue COVID-19 citations under existing standards and the general duty clause. Join this webinar for a discussion of the CDC's updated guidelines, recent changes to state and local masking mandates, and the impact these developments may have on OSHA enforcement activities.
