DESCRIPTION

The two worlds of workplace safety and health compliance and wage claims may seem like strange partners, but the risks for wage claims related to safety are real. This webinar will identify key areas where employers' safety processes and procedures can result in wage claims brought under California's Private Attorneys General Act (PAGA). The speakers will review personal protective equipment (PPE) reimbursement, meal breaks and rest periods, employee training, and other areas where employers can make simple but critical mistakes that lead to significant liability.
