

The Surge of Wage and Hour Class Actions in the Pacific Northwest: Part 1

Join us for a two-part webinar series tailored for businesses with workforces in the Pacific Northwest as we navigate the giant wave of wage and hour litigation sweeping through Oregon and Washington State. Learn how California law firms are bringing their successful wage and hour playbooks north, leading to a surge in class action cases. The speakers will discuss recent court decisions, including those awarding steep penalties for meal violations, as well as increased enforcement activities by state agencies. The speakers will also review the latest Seattle ordinance on business expense reimbursement, and provide practical steps to prepare your organization for this and other changes on the horizon.
