DESCRIPTION

On April 22, 2020, Oklahoma Governor Kevin Stitt introduced the state's Open Up and Recover Safely (OURS) plan. As the state begins its three-phased approach to open the economy, Oklahoma employers must manage how to navigate this "new normal." In this webinar, the speakers will discuss:

- workplace safety recommendations by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration, including how to handle COVID-19 requests from employees in vulnerable populations;
- the unemployment benefits claims process and how to respond to employees who refuse to return to work;
- workplace policies and investigations; and
- best practices in amending and reclassifying workplace performance plans and annual reviews.
