

WEBINAR

What's Trending in Labor and Employment Law

SPEAKERS

Rebecca J. Bennett (Cleveland)
Jesse R. Dill (Milwaukee)
Anna K. Potter, Moderator

DATE

Tuesday, June 10, 2025

TIME

11:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m. Pacific
12:00 p.m. – 1:00 p.m. Mountain
1:00 p.m. – 2:00 p.m. Central
2:00 p.m. – 3:00 p.m. Eastern

COST

$99.00
Complimentary for
Ogletree Deakins clients

Join us on June 10, 2025, for the latest edition of our popular webinar series, What's Trending in Labor and Employment Law. The speakers will provide brief updates on the latest labor and employment law developments, including a look back on President Trump's first 100 days of his second term in office, how Generation Z's aversion to bar tabs may impact the workplace, and the rising trend of "polyworking." They will also discuss recent cases that affect U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission guidance on lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender protections, as well as regulations under the Pregnant Workers Fairness Act. Finally, they will cover the current status of the National Labor Relations Board's quorum and insights from new research on how employees can outperform artificial intelligence.

Ogletree Deakins

Instructions for participation will be circulated before the webinar. If you have questions about the availability of CLE credits, please email cle@ogletree.com. To request an accommodation for a disability, please email accessibility@ogletree.com as soon as possible.